Mayor's appointment angers police

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Mayor Beverly McAnally's appointment of John O. Lewis as police inspector to fill the spot vacated by the death of Robert Sullivan has caused a deep rift between the mayor's office and the police department and has some members of the city council screaming "foul."

"This place is like a morgue," said one Romulus policeman, who asked that his name be withheld to avoid repercussions. "Everyone is upset, because not only has McAnally appointed a man who is totally unfamiliar with our system to be second in command, but the man has absolutely no command experience. He's not qualified for the position."

Sources at the police station say that morale is at an all-time low because of the appointment, and bitterness is rampant.

"We have worked for three

Monday night's council meeting was held in front of a standing-room only audience. After much discussion and name calling, a motion was made by Barry Baumann for the council to officially recognize John Lewis as the new Romulus Police Inspector. Alan Lambert supported the motion. Councilman William Wadsworth was absent-excused. Jimmie Raspberry voted to abstain. Junior Block did likewise. Pete Bergeron voted "no." Mayor pro-tem Maryann Banks, after thirty seconds of silence, responded to a voice in the crowd that yelled "how does the chairman vote?" with a resounding "the chair votes yes, motion carried."

we can, and for what? To have our promotion taken away and given to an unqualified political ally of McAnally's," charged the officer. "And it isn't only one position that's affected, it's four."

"One of our lieutenants would have been promoted to the Inspector's position (according to the Romulus police hierarchy) which would open the way for one of our sergeants to be promoted to that spot, which in turn would let a patrol officer be promoted to that position, and a new patrol officer would then be hired," said one police get a ticket for going 'only' ten miles over the speed limit."

"I know she's the boss, but I don't have time to just sit around and talk. I do my job," said Flood.

Chief Flood says that he feels very strongly that there are qualified people in the department that should have received the promotion.

"This is strictly a political appointment, a favor returned, because he (Lewis) campaigned for the mayor during the last election," said another source at the station who requested anonymity. "Everyone here has worked from scratch to build this department, and then someone new comes in as second in command? It stinks."

"I'm sure this will force our chief out — it's a rather obscene slap in the face, this appointment — and that will undoubtedly cause even more friction between our department and the mayor. Mr. Lewis may well be a great guy, but he isn't qualified for this position."

But, there's enough wrong with this without even getting into personal qualifications. I know for a fact that everyone in the department, with the possible exception of one or two, feels this way. And that's because they've had trouble with Flood or Sullivan."

"I don't think any department head has the right to hire anyone they want. The mayor, being the city's top executive, has the right to choose who she feels is best."

— Councilman Barry Baumann

McAnally admitted that Lewis, who ran unsuccessfully for city council in the last election, campaigned for her, but added that she "probably helped him more than he helped me." When asked about contributions to her campaign by the Wayne County Sheriff's organization, McAnally said at that immediate time, but it does say "I hereby request authorization to appoint someone to the position."

"It's ridiculous to think I was going behind her back," said Flood, "because I can't appoint or hire anyone without her OK. It was just for her when she got County Sheriff's Department back in Romulus and abolishing our own police department. What it comes down to is this: do you want them to do the job in a responsible way or do you want a puppet?"

According to McAnally, she "felt remote from the police department and wants to remedy the situation." When queried as to if her appointment — against the wishes of Chief Donald Flood — meant that there was no one qualified within the ranks to fill the position, McAnally stated: "Not for all the things I wanted. I want to be sure that there will be someone down there who will listen to the people that come in. The public is not satisfied with the department. I get an average of three calls a week from citizens complaining about our police officers."

A check with surrounding communities as to the number of similar complaints revealed that three a week is quite low. Flood maintains that "by definition, police are not very popular people until you need them. There will always be people who don't think they should

Club members check "hands-on" museum

Four members of the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club traveled to Midland on Tuesday, July 10 for a day-long meeting with the curator of the Midland "hands on" Historical Museum.

Club members Cathy Horste, Diane Wilson, Gloria Gardner and Connie Etter spent the day studying the unique Midland museum to determine if the "hands-on" type of museum would be suitable for use at the proposed Van Buren Township museum.

Van Buren Township currently is in negotiations with the Huron Clinton Metropark Authority to obtain the Robbe Farm, located on Haggerty Road in Van Buren Township, for use as a local museum.

The GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club hopes to restore the farmhouse, which was built circa 1860, and open the farm to the public. Current plans include a "hands-on" approach, such as that in use in Midland, wherein visitors are encouraged to handle the exhibits, play with the antique toys, and share in the baking of bread and churning of butter, and dress up in period clothing.

Future plans may also include full participation by local public school students in the operation of the turn-of-the-century farm.

Anyone interested in learning more about the proposed museum project should contact project chairman Diane Wilson at 697-4051.

Inspector appointed back to see right away that I had interviewed Lewis."

According to sources, McAnally then sent a letter to Flood's office saying that Lewis was the new inspector.

"It's really a shame," contends one officer, "because the police department is in a no-win situation. If he stays, morale is bad and, if he goes, there'll still be this rift between McAnally and the department. Chief Flood has always gone out of his way to avoid things like this, to keep the department out of politics. Instead, he stays away from controversy and runs a good department in a very professional manner. And now this."

McAnally contends that "reliable sources" informed her that Flood was not going to promote from within the ranks anyway, and that he intended to promote Arthur Latz, also with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

"That's absurd," said Flood. "I really cannot imagine where a statement like that could have come from. I've known Latz for years but no, he was never considered for this post."

When asked if she had interviewed anyone else for the position, McAnally said no. "I sent my man to him (Flood). I think the department will be the better for what I have done. If Chief Flood had wanted me to interview his lieutenants, he should have sent them to me."

According to McAnally, another problem with the police department is the lack of sergeants on duty at all times.

"That's true, but it isn't a problem," says Flood. "There are times when a sergeant isn't on duty at night, and it totals up to eight hours a week. But, during those times, the senior patrol officer takes over those duties, and they've had experience at it. This usually happens when one of the sergeants is on vacation. Our system is patterned after the state police force."

Councilman Noah P. Bergeron said of the appointment: "I don't like it. I think Mr. Lewis is a very personable man, but as far as I'm concerned, this move is purely political. If the mayor wants that kind of control, why doesn't she just appoint herself police chief then?"

"That's the reason we have department heads, to run the departments," said Bergeron. "Why should the members of the department be out there busting their behinds trying to better themselves only to have the mayor bring in a political appointment? This sets a dangerous precedent that will give our police force doubts as to whether they have a future here."

"There's no way she can justify what she's done except that anyone they want. I think the mayor, being the city's top executive has the right to choose who she feels is best," said Baumann.

"I'm going on the assumption that the mayor is the chief executive and also head law enforcement officer."

According to Baumann, "some of the police are upset, but it's probably because it gives the mayor one of her people there. But I know that some of the patrolmen have been very upset with inconsistencies in the department and were delighted that they were getting someone fresh in there. They were relieved that someone new was coming in."

denied those allegations, saying that "there may be one person who's happy, but he's never happy with anything — a constant complainer. How can someone say that people are happy to have the chance for a promotion taken away?"

"I think there are a lot of people making a big deal out of this," said councilman Alan Lambert. "I think that if Mayor McAnally hired the man, then as the mayor of Romulus she has both the power and the right to do so. I don't think the charter is an issue, I think some council members are interpreting it in a way that it becomes an issue. I'm with the mayor all the way on this one."

When asked about the rumor circulating to the effect that Flood may retire because of the alleged breach of power, he responded "no comment."

"It'll be a sad day for Romulus if Chief Flood does leave," says Raspberry. "He's as dedicated to this police force as one can be — after all, he formed it. He's a good man, and a very professional one. He's tried to stay out of politics to make sure everyone got a fair shake, but this time he was rudely thrown in. It's a shame."

"I would call this a clear cut case of cronyism with total disregard for the charter, and I hope she doesn't get away with it," said Raspberry.

Lewis introduced

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally has announced that the position of police inspector, which recently became vacant due to the death of Inspector Robert Sullivan, has been filled by John O. Lewis.

A Romulus resident, Lewis, 47, has spent the last 15 years as a deputy in the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, serving in the jail and on road patrol. From 1974 to 1980 Lewis represented the Sheriff's Department as Youth Officer in the City of Romulus and Huron Township. After the Department lost the city contract due to cutbacks on the road patrol, Lewis was assigned to Metro Airport and served there until March of this year when he was assigned to the Executive Division of Wayne County Sheriff, Robert Ficano, where he performed community relations duties.

While making the appointment McAnally said, "Often past administrations have been criticized for going outside the community for qualified professional employees. I'm proud to say that we have a qualified professional right here in Romulus and to overlook him would be a slight to the citizens of Romulus."

On his appointment, Lewis said "On my part, I made this decision because I care about the community. I've worked hard for the betterment of Romulus. I'm here to do a job, the controversy is more or less political. I haven't run into any resentment, so far all of my feedback has been positive. As far as not having command experience, any organization you go into is different. What it comes down to is common sense, and acting accordingly."

'Mr. Lewis is a fine gentleman, but I just don't feel he is qualified for this position, and, even if he was, I think it should have been filled from within.'

she needs a stool pigeon there," said Bergeron.

According to McAnally, she hired Lewis for the position because he is a Romulus resident, has 15 years of experience with the sheriff's office, has experience dealing with the citizens of Romulus and because he is black.

"Romulus is 20 percent black and there are no blacks in command positions. There is now," McAnally said.

Raspberry, the lone black council member, took exception to the statement, saying that "color should not be a factor here, nor should personality. The policy of this city with regards to promoting police officials has been to have an outside group test them. That's how it's done. And those best qualified move up. And if the mayor is concerned about race, why did she fire the only black department head Romulus had, Nita Johnson, who was Personnel Director, and replace her with a bus driver?" said Raspberry.

Councilman Barry Baumann supports McAnally's appointment, and says that in his opinion, "the mayor was within her rights according to the charter. "I don't think any department head has a right to hire

Romulus, Belleville awarded grant to study computers

Metropolitan Affairs Corporation (MAC) has awarded a grant to the Cities of Belleville and Romulus to assess the feasibility and desirability of establishing a shared or joint approach to meeting the computer needs of both communities. This grant is one of four that MAC has awarded to groups of local governments which are interested in exploring ways of providing public services jointly. The grant's purpose is to encourage communities to work together where such joint or shared efforts provide services more efficiently and economically.

A working team composed of Patsy Cantrell from Romulus, and Frank Pascarella from Belleville has been established to guide work under this project. At the direction of this committee, MAC is contracting with the firm of Plante & Moran to conduct an assessment of the computer needs of both cities. Under contract to MAC, Plante & Moran will

- reviewing the existing systems of both communities,
 - identifying municipal functions which require computerization,
 - defining the basic requirements for such automation and,
 - preparing an analysis of the costs and benefits of implementing any recommendations.
- It is anticipated that this assessment of need and feasibility will be completed by the contractor within a period of 4 to 6 weeks.

Upon completion of this consultant work, both communities should have a much clearer idea of their computer needs and the possibilities for saving tax dollars through sharing or jointly developing computer systems. The project will closely assess the independent needs of both communities and the areas where cooperation would be feasible and desirable.

time — in September 1981 at the Sparta rodeo facilities. Ninety-six horses found homes with 65 adopters at that time.

"Adopters are always needed to help us solve the problem of overpopulation among wild horses and burros on public rangelands," said BLM Eastern States Director G. Curtis Jones, Jr. "We really appreciated the interest shown by residents in western Michigan a few years ago," he continued.

Jones said that persons who apply for adoption in advance will be assured a better selection of animals, but that "walk-up" applications also will be accepted from people who stop by the Michigan Livestock Exchange, located at 9534 M-52 in Manchester, during the event.

Jones explained that under the protection of Federal law, herds of wild horses and burros increase rapidly, and must compete for limited forage and water with native wildlife and domestic livestock that also graze public lands.

"These animals are wild," Jones said, "and they're more afraid of humans than people are of them." With care and patience, wild horses and burros can be tamed and used for riding, farmwork, showing, breeding or other noncommercial purposes. They require adequate shelter and corral space with sturdy fencing, and adopters should have at least some experience with horses or burros.

'Parents' imitate Cabbage Patch 'kids'

Area kids and kids at heart will get a chance to imitate their favorite Cabbage Patch "baby" at a special Cabbage Patch Kids "Look Alike" contest sponsored by the Country Mouse's Attic (Cabbage Patch Kids) store at 21132 Ecorse Road in Taylor.

The contest, in which Cabbage Patch "parents" will dress as their dolls, will take place at 3:30 p.m., Aug. 18 at Pia's Pizzeria, next door to the Country Mouse's Attic Store.

"This will be the second year for the contest, which was a big success last year," Cecelia Hammond, owner of the Country Mouse's Attic, explained.

"The whole thing grew out of our parents' club, which is really active in planning special occasions for doll owners."

The club is comprised of about 600 members, all "parents" of either original or Coleco Cabbage Patch dolls.

Original Cabbage Patch dolls, the owner explained, were first created by Xavier Roberts at Babyland General Hospital in Cleveland, Ga. in 1979. The original, an all-soft doll, is made entirely by hand and is becoming increasingly popular among collectors.

The originals, Hammond said, sell anywhere from $125 to $4,000, depending on the age of the dolls.

"Current editions are least expensive," she said, "while older babies claim the higher prices."

"The other doll we recognize is the Coleco," Hammond said, "which Xavier licensed to mass produce last year. Many people start by collecting the Coleco, and then, when they find that it's not the original, they want to add one of the Roberts' dolls to their collection."

According to the store owner and doll expert, Cabbage Patch Kids are here to stay.

"This isn't just a fad," Hamond insisted. "The Cabbage Patch dolls have been around now for five years and have a sound basis among serious collectors."

"Cabbage Patch has achieved a worldwide popularity," she added. "There are all kinds of toys, TV cartoons, plans for a full-length movie and even a theme park."

Hammond, who tries to stock every item offered by Cabbage Patch, said she is just as enthusiastic about the upcoming "look alike" contest as the contestants, who take their competition very seriously.

The idea is for the parent, whether it's an adult or a kid, to look as much like their baby as possible, Hammond said.

"Last year we had contestants wearing yarn wigs to match their babies, and even coloring their faces with shoe polish to get the proper skin tones," she laughed.

"The contest is open to both kids and adults," she said, "and half the fun is in giving adults a chance to play. They're bigger kids than kids are."

Contestants will be judged according to age groups in categories of 5 years and under through adults. Original and Coleco doll owners will also compete in separate categories.

Gift certificates will be awarded for first-place winners in each age group. The names of all participants will be placed into a drawing to receive an original Cabbage Patch baby.

To learn more about the contest, or the Country Mouse's Attic and its complete Cabbage Patch nursery, call 383-8677.

"Parents will dress as their favorite Cabbage Patch dolls in look alike contest."

Annexation plan deserves support

On Oct. 4 residents of the Cherry Hill School District will vote on the proposed annexation of a portion of the Cherry Hill district to the Wayne-Westland Community Schools and the transfer of the Dearborn Heights portion to the Crestwood School District.

The proposed merger has been the subject of considerable discussion and debate; recently more than 200 residents gathered at a public hearing on the issue. Support for the plan has been overwhelming to date and with good reason.

The proposal will serve the best interests of the students in each of the districts involved.

For 2,300 Cherry Hill students the annexation will improve educational opportunities while decreasing the millage rate. Such a merger would bolster a declining student enrollment in the Wayne-Westland district, delaying the closing of a junior high school until the 1990's. Crestwood officials view the plan as a move toward the formation of one school district for the city of Dearborn Heights.

Thanks to the provisions of a new state act designed to facilitate annexation and transfer of school districts, Wayne-Westland will receive more than $1 million over a three-year period and a significant amount of state aid in the future should the plan be approved.

As several parents have noted, the bottom line here is the youngsters. Consolidation of services will eliminate repetition of programs and additional opportunities for many.

As one resident pointed out, "We have to recognize the importance of a good educational offering, of a versatile program for our children. Change is painful at times, but necessary."

Change, for the sake of change, does not warrant support. The positive change that would result, beginning Feb. 1, 1985, from the proposed annexation does deserve support.

We urge Cherry Hill voters to say "yes" to the ballot proposal in October.

In a restless world filled with turmoil and catastrophe, the XXIII Olympiad being staged in Los Angeles gives humanity a welcoming reprieve from the darker side of the news.

Collectively and individually, The Games help instill a universal oneness despite the obvious absence of the countries of the Soviet Bloc.

The ancient Olympiad reminded participants that territorial and political disputes are secondary when the athletes of the world come together.

In fact, during an Olympiad year, wars were "called off" so that athletes may compete.

If only this troubled world could have learned their lessons from the past. Unfortunately, we make the same errors. And mankind must suffer.

It is athletes like Earl Jones of Inkster who remind us of that dream. That the youth of today, despite their restlessness, are the bridge of hope. They make dreams come true ... not by standing on the corners of America, but by sacrifice and hard work.

The only way one can keep up with the Joneses of the world is old-fashioned hard work.

The will to win

What is it that gives some of us the all-consuming desire to "go for the gold?"

The ongoing athletic performances at the Los Angeles Olympiad should be an inspiration and a role model for us all — not only to prompt us to a keener awareness of our physical capabilities, but in our personal lives as well.

To see what can be achieved, to understand the sublimation of pain, fatigue, adversity, competition and bad luck to the total desire to win is beyond the imaginations of many of us. That's too bad. The exemplary achievements and performances of the Olympic athletes should speak to us all, giving us pause to wonder why we do not achieve more in our individual lives.

It is most apparent that the Olympic athletes were willing, above all else, to pay the price for excellence. They each have a belief in their own ability to win. Their confidence is nearly tangible as they participate in their chosen events, bathed in sweat and obviously fatigued. "I can and I will" seems to scream silently from the soul of each well-conditioned and disciplined body.

How little the rest of us use what the Lord gave us all to work with is blatantly evident watching these athletic endeavors. These young champions master what most of us would never dream of attempting. How very sad.

Why are there so many pessimists who pride themselves in announcing all that cannot be done. They are the first to tell you that the glass is half empty. An Olympian would say it's half full. These pessimistic "realists" know all the reasons something won't work — they know there isn't enough time, isn't enough help. You can always count on them to tell you that the task is impossible, and once in a while, they will even admit that it can't be done because they don't know how. An Olympian would tell you he or she doesn't know how — but that doesn't mean they can't find out.

It doesn't surprise me that athletes of either sex who apply for jobs score points with prospective employers. The "brainless jock" mentality is a thing of the past. Athletes understand team work, competitive spirit and the will to win.

I've heard that within every success, the seeds of failure are already sown. If we pause to wallow in our momentary successes, failure and defeat have a chance to catch up and position themselves to overtake us.

I'm always troubled by those who pause too long. Had Benoit stopped at 20 miles to congratulate herself for taking an early lead in the first women's Olympic marathon, she would not have walked away with the gold medal. Her concentration, determination and machine-like drive toward her goal won her victory. Distractions were everywhere for her ... the crowd, the competition, the media and cameras, recent knee surgery, the heat. She focused, channeled her energy and just kept on going.

Why don't more of us learn that type of discipline in our everyday lives?

The Olympic athletes obviously know how to blend together a combination of practice, rest, competition, nourishment, sleep and training, training, training.

Can you imagine what folks like you and I could accomplish if we applied ourselves with their dedication and courage? The will to win means seeing what is possible, determining that you can do it, establishing a plan that will get you to your goal, applying yourself to the task, preparing yourself to go the distance, overcoming obstacles, playing over pain and, above all, paying the price in time and energy.

Each of us can win, in whatever pursuit we determine worthy of such dedication, if we will it!

See you next week.

Resents tax

To the Editor:

Two years ago Justine Barns ran for the 38th District seat in the Michigan House of Representatives. Ms. Barns ran on a platform promise which was printed by her and given to us. She promised that she would "Fight any sales or income tax increases without the vote of the people."

Representative Barns broke her promise to us — we, you and I the voters and taxpayers of Westland! Did Representative Barns ask you through the ballot box to allow her to vote for the big 38% income tax increase? She did not ask me nor did she get my vote to take an even bigger bite out of my paycheck! These have been hard times for every one but especially the families and senior citizens in overtaxed Westland!

Representative Barns does not deserve the title Representative for she represents no one but herself and the big lobbyists that are putting their money behind her. She is not to be trusted to serve another term. Her words to us, her promises to us mean nothing when she is sitting in Lansing.

Disgruntled homeowner

To the Editor:

It seems that I always thought Wayne Police had better things to do than ride around on RAINY NIGHTS and try to find people who park too close to stop signs, crosswalks or etc.

They should be trying to stop speeders, stop sign runners, robbery and drunk drivers. When a homeowner receives two tickets within a four-month period for miscellaneous parking violations I would think the officers have it in for that homeowner.

Applauds article

To the Editor:

I would like to applaud the news article on July 18, 1984 front page entitled: "Dying for a Home, MHS Battles Animal Cruelty," by Rose Mary Reiz, ANP Staff Writer. Ms. Reiz' article reflects a growing concern that we, as citizens, must take responsibility for one another and put an end to needless suffering inflicted by animal abusers.

Who is the abuser? It is the person who has no regard for the quality of life of others, whether it be his dog, his child or his spouse. Because of deep seated emotional defects, he inflicts suffering at whim on those he feels are helpless, dependent, and unable to fight back.

Taking it a step further, the abuser of drugs and alcohol who gets behind the wheel of a car has no regard for the safety of the innocent jogger, bicyclist, pedestrian, or nearby driver who is sharing the road with him. The time has come for the media and the judges to set the tone reflecting the community concern that irresponsible and reprehensible abusers will no longer be tolerated as a "fact of life."

The abusers must be dealt with firmly by the governing authorities and publicly exposed by the media. How long will we stand by and hope the problem will go away by itself? How long will we in effect condone the actions of the abuser by our own inaction? The problem of the abuser is our collective problem. There are no clear answers, but we must begin to take the first step.

We must become "bolder and more articulate" and report abusers to the media and the appropriate police authorities. We must encourage the prosecutors to follow through on valid warrants issued. We must continue to monitor the judge in the courtroom by becoming court watchers, requesting effective enforcement of the law.

We are responsible for each other. To quote the article, "We are people from all walks Boxers are taught to go for the chin. Television wrestlers grab whatever they get their hands on. Next Sunday some 50 drivers will go for their opponents' radiator. Repeatedly.

Nobody plays favorites at a demolition derby. It's a dog eat dog world of crashes, caved-in fenders and shattered dreams. When all the excitement has died down at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds on Quirk Road Sunday night, one junker, er car, will be left running. The winner will have several hundred dollars in his or her jeans and a ride home. Junkyards will claim heaps of trash that need a place of rest.

"These (competing) cars will look like junkers to most," says the local king of the demolition derby, Ellwood "Sonny" Hall of Belleville. "But they have had some mechanical modification that will cost time and money. Wheel wells are cut away so tires are not easily trapped by caved-in fenders. Then they remove all glass, trim and moulding and install a small armored gas tank."

Freshmen orientation

Hinges of school doors are being greased in anticipation of another busy school year. Except for college doors. They don't close for the summer and, from my experience, are rarely greased.

College is special. For one thing, after complaining about hating school for 12 years, you're now willing to pay exorbitant prices for the privilege of attending. Faced with diving headlong into the mire known as the Real World, it's amazing the things that look favorable!

So what we have here is a guide for first-year college students, something to help them slide by without ruining their reputation for the years that follow. So listen up, freshmen!

While at college, you don't go to "the show." You go to "the cinema." And never, under any circumstances, admit to going to the drive-in for reasons other than sex. And, if you feel you must see movies like "Indiana Jones" or "Gremlins," do it only under cover of the night. However, when going to see a B ergman film (and that's Ingmar, not Ingrid) or taking in a Von Stroheim festival, make sure everyone in the dorm knows it.

Your status at college may well depend on how well you can sneak beer into on-campus hall parties. A case of Miller in one trip can practically guarantee a position on the student government.

Health tip #1: Experience is the best way to learn.

Rock'n'roll is a no-no. Only freshmen like rock music, and letting anyone know you're a freshman is to be avoided at all costs, lest your social life in college consists of watching reruns of "The A Team" with your roomie. Boring modern jazz is a must.

Never wear wax lips to class for any reason.

In writing assigned 10-page papers, remember to:

- Triple space everything.

If anyone knows about smashing strategy, it's Hall, the president of U.S.A. Demolition Derby and promoter of the upcoming derby at the Fairgrounds as well as some 32 other shows this summer across Michigan. In his nine years of staging such contests, Hall has seen a few autos taken off the streets (thankfully) and has witnessed a few injuries, mostly of the whiplash variety.

Approximately 50 competitors will do battle in front of the grandstand beginning at 7 p.m. in preliminary heats. Tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $2 for children, not bad since the only places known for featuring more wrecking are the corners of Michigan Avenue and Venoy, or Cherry Hill and Wayne Road.

Last year Harvey Keebler of Howell drove a Plymouth wagon to survival, outlasting local heat winners Richard Sliva, Bryan Neely, Joseph Randolph of Belleville and Amy Foster of Romulus, who captured the annual Powder Puff crown for women. This year the stakes include $800 in cash and prizes, almost enough to resurrect my '73 Buick Century from the world of the great auto beyond.

"The best cars are from '71 thru '76," Hall explains. "There's a number of good models ... GM station wagons, Fords, Chryslers. You've gotta remember that there's not a lot of speed in this sport,

- Repeat yourself. Repeat yourself again. Then get redundant.
- Define words and use lots of triple-spaced footnotes.
- Spell out numbers.
- Skip a page in the middle. They'll never notice.

Avoid all philosophy classes. They'll confuse you so bad you may forget these tips.

Brush up on your "Leave It To Beaver" trivia before the semester starts. Know the hows and whys concerning things like Beaver in the giant coffee cup.

Forget about taking computer classes, because for every college student learning basic programming, there's five 12-year-olds who can print out rings around them.

Health tip #2: Never drink out of the community milk carton if you have open sores on your mouth.

Remember: the sexual revolution is over; you placed a poor second.

Try never to fall asleep in class, unless it's while reading James Joyce. Then, it's expected.

The following fads are quite passe in the 80's:

- Stacking empty beer cans into a pyramid.
- A candle rooted in an empty wine bottle.
- Cinder block bookshelves lined with Tolkien.
- AC/DC posters.
- Anything to do with yoga or T.M.
- Joining a fraternity (unless, of course, you're a girl!)

Instead, try the following:

- Wallpapering the walls with "The New York Daily News"
- Dating your teachers.
- Plastic bookshelves lined with Keruak, Hunter S. Thompson, R.A. Lafferty and X-Men comics.
- Making fun of fraternities.
- Memorizing the previous night's Late Night with David Letterman show.
- Waking up nearly every day.

OK, now you're on your own.

Go for the radiator

Preparation, and a $15 entry fee, are critical. "The stock gas tank is removed for safety," he notes. "Holes are cut in hoods for cooling and to make it easier to extinguish engine fires. The hood is wired or chained shut and the engine is chained down to keep it from falling out when the motor mounts break. Oversized tires are used for better traction."

Don't do your homework and you're liable to draw the jeers of what usually is quite a vocal crowd. Hall says that it's the crowd that is the "blood and guts of car wrecking."

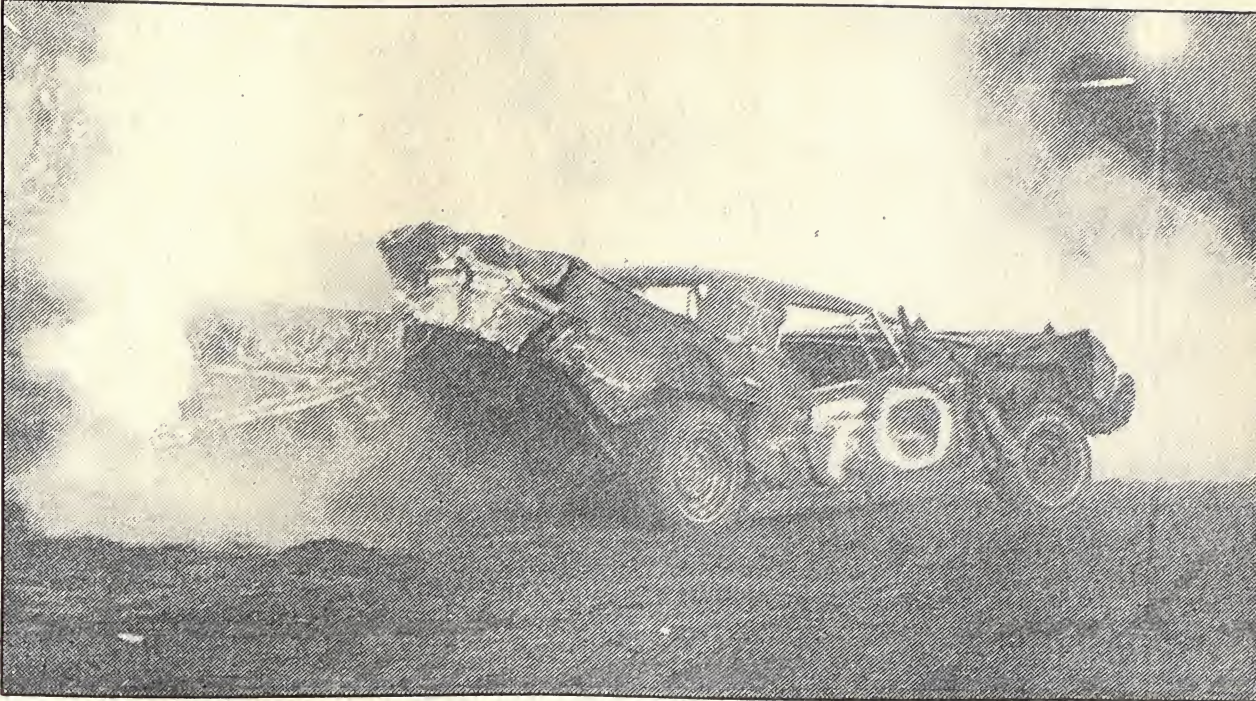

For Hall the demolition season starts in June and culminates with the crowning of a state champion in September. He visits plenty of Michigan fairs in between.

"Demolition derbies have grown in popularity since the mid-60's," Hall points out. "A few years ago an event on the West coast featured Indianapolis 500 drivers bashing into each other with Rolls Royces and a fleet of new American luxury autos. While I doubt there'll be any Rolls Royces in Belleville, the drivers will have their favorite cars."

Further information on the demolition derby can be obtained by calling 483-0574. Hall, by the way, operates a body shop in Belleville while he's not on the road with his demolition duties.

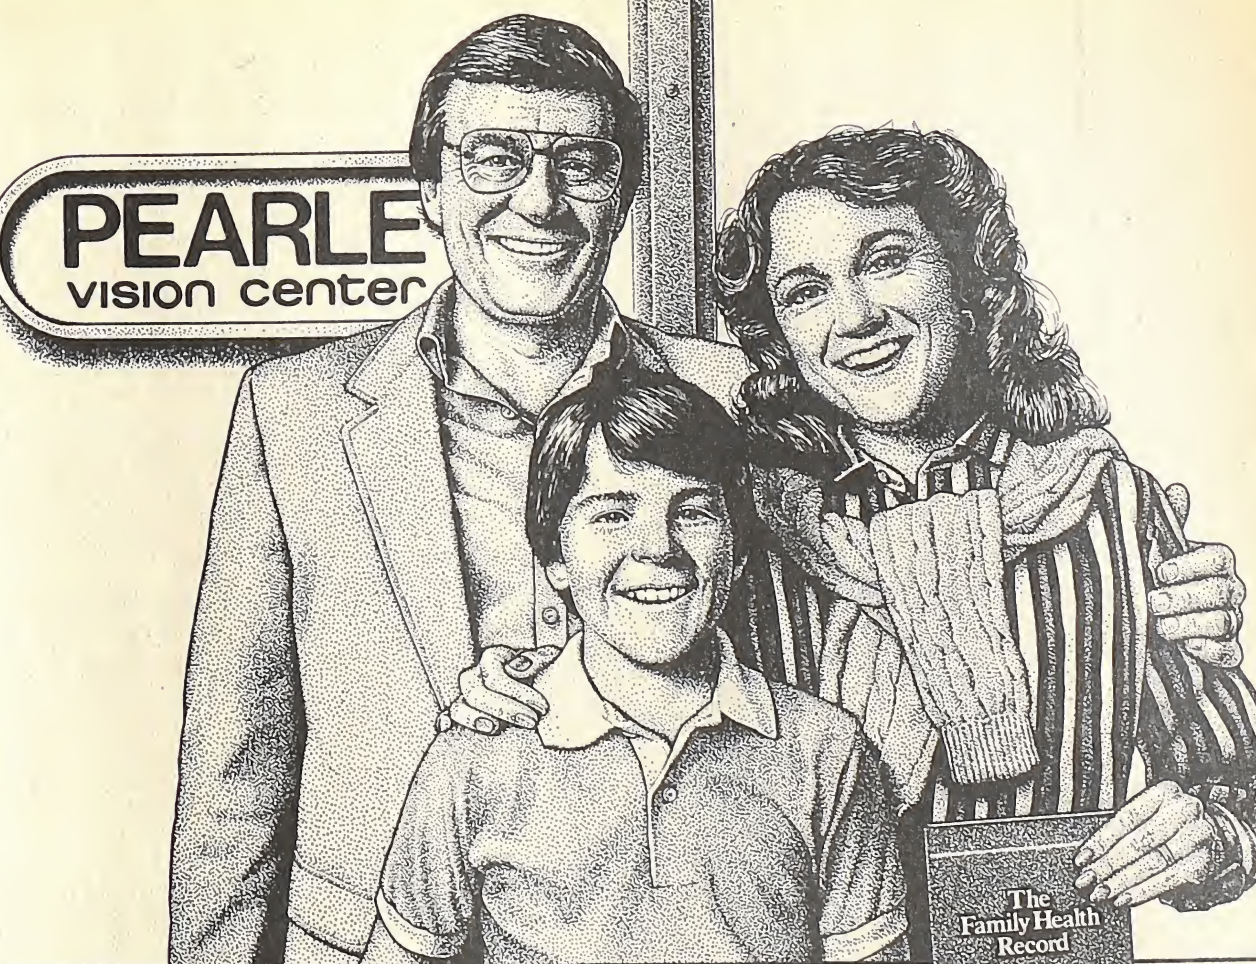

Name of the company? "Complete Collision." No kiddin.

Don't wait for a problem to get your family's eyes checked.

You get your teeth checked regularly. And without fail, remember to get your kids' booster shots. Yet, most people don't stop to take care of their family's eyesight until there's a problem.

The truth is, your eyes can change in a matter of months. That's why a regular eye exam is so important. It helps keep your eyesight sharp. And it can correct a little problem before it becomes a big one.

August Is Family Eye Care Month At Pearle.

At Pearle we care enough about your eyes to set aside every August as Family Eye Care Month. It's our way to remind you and your family of the importance of regular eye exams. And to help you remember your checkups, we'll give you The Family Health Record booklet.

So you'll always be on top of your dental appointments, physicals—and from now on, your yearly eye exam.

After all, there are so many beautiful things to look at every day. Make sure you're seeing them the way they're meant to be seen.

Nobody cares for eyes more than Pearle.

Successful picnic

To the Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your recent donation of putting the advertising in the paper about the picnic. The ad certainly added to the success of "Wayne Against Muscular Dystrophy," hosted by Tom's Taverns. Your support is crucial to the vital program of Patient Services and Research that the Muscular Dystrophy Association is able to provide.

I am proud to inform you that through your active participation the picnic was a tremendous success. You can be proud to know that the funds you helped to generate shall go towards research, as well as to provide wheelchairs, braces, clinic services, therapy sessions, summer camps, and more to anyone suffering from neuromuscular disorders. All of these services are provided free of charge to our patient afflicted with Muscular Dystrophy — thanks to your help!

I hope to have you on our team again in the near future! Again, please accept our deepest thanks.

Mental health needs

To the Editor:

The Legislature recently passed Senate Bill 642, which is the Department of Mental Health Appropriation bill for fiscal year 1984-1985. In the opinion of the Mental Health Association in Michigan, this is one of the best budget bills for public mental health services that has been passed in several years.

The budget will allow for a continuation of many important current services, plus significant funds to pilot innovative new community programs which depart from traditional models. This legislation represents the willingness by the Legislature to recognize mental health needs in Michigan.

It also represents the caring and efforts of many persons, including Senator Robert Geake of Northville who chairs the Senate Appropriation Subcommittee on Mental Health. He is articulate and well-informed on mental health issues, and has worked diligently to insure an adequate level of funding for these vital services. We applaud and appreciate his efforts on behalf of the mentally ill, and their families, in Michigan.

Tax-funded abortions

To the Editor:

When the Supreme Court legalized abortion eleven years ago, they did not rule that states had to pay for abortions with taxes. Michigan is still paying for abortions with our taxes even though the legislature voted many times not to do so. The Governor always vetoed those votes of our representatives.

I want a representative in Lansing who will stop my taxes paying for abortions! Our present representative for Westland, Justine Barnes, voted for Michigan to continue paying $5.7 million a year for abortions.

Adopt a pet

Scheduled to be put to sleep this week, these two pets were given more time in the hopes that Associated Newspaper readers will find room in their hearts and homes for them. Each will be held at the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter only through Aug. 15.

Smokey, above, has an extra toe on each of her front paws and a lot of extra love to give to new owners. An allergy forced an owner to surrender Smokey, a beautiful 1-year-old domestic female cat, to the Michigan Humane Society's Westland Shelter. Good with children and other animals, the spayed silver tiger is litter trained and declawed. For more information about Smokey, call the Michigan Humane Society, Westland Shelter at 721-7300.

This little fellow, above, needs both a name and a home. The energetic black mixed terrier is 3½-months-old and was picked up as a stray and taken to the Westland Shelter, where he is available for adoption. He's had a health check, received all his shots and is very, very friendly. If you have room in your home for him, call the MHS Westland Shelter at 721-7300.

800 will never be the same

TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The 800 meter run will never be the same. And the world can thank — or blame — Earl Jones of Inkster. The 20-year-old Eastern Michigan University track sensation proved to the coaching world that the 800 meter run can be a sprint. And he forced the "old men" of the event — Steve Ovett, 26, of Great Britain who won the gold medal in the 800 at the Moscow Olympiad and Ovett's teammate, Sebastian Coe, 25, who held the world record for the event, and reigning 800-meter Olympic champ, Joaquin Cruz of Brazil to "think fast" and change strategy or fade into oblivion.

Faced with the challenge of earning his niche among the internationally great, Jones launched his bid for immortality by sprinting into the front of the field and holding on to the end. The strategy has brought him success and fame.

It has worked for this youngest star of the 800 who survived two preliminary heats and the semi-finals of the XXIII Olympiad held in Los Angeles.

With a record 90,000 fans jammed in the Los Angeles Coliseum and with millions of TV viewers here and around the world watching the race via satellite, Jones didn't disappoint his loyal followers. He made history.

Monday night's classic confrontation in the finals of the 800-meters together the world's best. Along with Jones, who was cursed with the onus of running in Lane One, were Italy's finest, Donato Sabia, in Lane Two; Coe, of Great Britain lined up in Lane Three, Billy Konchellah of Kenya, a pre-race favorite, was allotted Lane Four; Johnny Gray, Jones' running-mate from the United States, was in Lane Five, and Joaquin Cruz of Brazil, was in Lane Six, while Ovett of Great Britain and Edwin Koech of Kenya were in Lane Seven and Eight, respectively.

After the eight runners jockeyed for positions during the first 100 meters, Cruz and Coe with Jones breathing down their necks, set the pace.

A painter could not have found a better subject to place on his canvas.

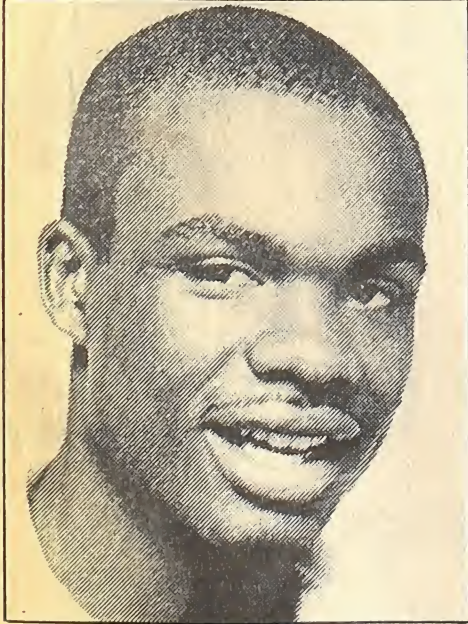

Like a ray of light each runner streaked toward the finish line, apparitions coming alive as the maddening cheers of the crowd erupted in the coliseum.

The screams didn't die even after Cruz crossed the finish line in a record-setting 1:43.0 followed by the Englishman, Coe, (1:43.64) and the young athlete from Inkster, Jones, who was clocked in 1:43.88 — the best ever in the event posted by an American.

The bridge had been crossed.

Unmistakably, Cruz was the best in the world in the 800 at the 1984 Olympiad in Los Angeles.

But make no mistake, in 1988, when the athletes of the world assemble for the XXIV Olympiad, look for the name of Earl Jones of Inkster to be enshrined in gold.

Earl Jones . . . he brought home the bronze

Jones comes home with bronze

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Earl Jones of Inkster proved to the world that he is among the best and fastest runners in the world.

Before 90,000 fans sweltering in near 90 degree heat at the Los Angeles Coliseum and millions of TV viewers, Jones emerged from a field of seven internationally renowned 800-meter run stars to capture the bronze medal at the 23rd Olympiad.

Only a fraction of a second before Inkster's favorite son crossed the finish line, two other runners — Joaquin Cruz of Brazil and Sebastian Coe of Great Britain had left their footprints there.

Cruz won the coveted Olympic Gold Medal in a record-shattering 1:43.0, beating Sebastian Coe, who held the world's record for the event. Cruz' 1:43 flat established a new Olympic record for the 800 meters.

It was the "greatest and fastest 800-meter run in the history of the event", according to the commentators.

Unavailable for comment after the event, Jones disappeared. His time of 1:43.88 is the fastest any American has run the event.

"He is disappointed that he didn't win the event," said Dennis Shillingford, a former coach, "but extremely pleased that he has the bronze. Earl is great — just great. We're all proud of him. He's a winner."

Jones, who turned 20 on July 17, had the disadvantage of being in Lane 1 in a field of eight finalists. The field was labeled as "the fastest over-all field in the history of the 800 meter run." Running next to Jones in Lane 2 was Donato Sabia of Italy; Sebastian Coe of Great Britain was in Lane 3 while Billy Konchellah of Kenya was allotted Lane 4.

The rest of the impressive field consisted of Johnny Gray of the United States (Santa Monica) in Lane 5; Joaquin Cruz of Brazil in Lane 6; Steve Ovett of Great Britain was in Lane 7, while rounding out the field in Lane 8 was Edwin Koech of Kenya.

Prior to the preliminary heats, Jones was not even considered as a medal contender. The experts had picked Coe, Cruz and Peter Elliott of Great Britain to finish in the running. Elliott was wiped out in the preliminary heat.

Cruz surprised the experts as he went right for the lead immediately after the starting gun. He took command with Ovett and Johnny Gray breathing down his neck. Jones hugged the inside track and sat in fourth, biding his time. He moved into the third slot before the initial 200-meters was completed.

Cruz had a tough time maintaining the lead as Gray and Coe continued to challenge with Jones right in the pack. Jones moved past the quickly fading Gray to take command of third place but found himself "boxed in" and unable to find the extra strength to overcome Cruz's marginal lead.

Coe came through the outside to take over second as Cruz crossed the finish line in a new Olympic record time of 1:43.0. Jones finished third.

Cruz, who had earlier in the year captured the NCAA titles in both the 800 and 1500 meters as a student from the University of Oregon, told the audience that he knew from watching Jones that he was in a "battle to the finish line".

At 20, Earl Jones' is the youngest runner in the fastest 800-meter run field ever assembled in Olympic history. He'll be back.

World tourney is next

J & D Auto is 2nd best in Michigan

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Blowing a 3-run first inning lead, Wayne's J & D Auto dropped a 10-6 crucial decision in the finals of the state championship to Taylor's Locker Room and settled for second place at the United States Slow Pitch Softball Association Tournament.

The defeat in the finals, however, didn't stop manager Larry Quartuccio's club from qualifying for the World USSSA Tournament scheduled for the Labor Day weekend in Plymouth, Minnesota.

"I felt we had a chance to win the state title," commented Quartuccio after the tournament, "however, the offense just wasn't there Sunday."

Quartuccio added he felt the local softballers had a good shot at the world title.

"This is the best team we have had in recent years," he said, "and I believe we can go all the way despite the loss at the state."

In the finals, J & D staked starting pitcher Don Staples to three runs in the first inning, but Locker Room came back and rallied for five runs in the top of the third to grab the lead for good. The state champs sealed the victory with five more runs in the fifth. J & D replied with two tallies in the sixth and wrapped up the tournament with a run in the seventh.

Taylor got to two J & D hurlers for a total of 19 hits — with Craig Idema and John Celsi each collecting three.

In the semi-final round, J & D edged Westland's Frankies 5-4. The difference in this one was a 3-run outburst by the winners in the sixth. Ron Bostwick and Bob Fallow split four hits for the Westlanders. A two-run triple by Charlie Morris in the sixth inning erased a 3-2 J & D deficit.

Bill Gendron's two hits, including a homer, lifted the Locker Room to a 4-2 victory over J & D Auto in an earlier match-up of the two rivals. Ron and Don Staples sparked the losers with two hits each. The Locker Room went ahead 2-0 in the bottom of the opening inning, then J & D Auto tied it up with two in the second. The champs put it away with a pair of runs in the fourth.

Behind Don Staple's five-hitter, J & D blanked Oak Park's Danco, 3-0, as Morris missed hitting for "the cycle" when he failed to get a triple. He did account for three of his team's five hits. Mate Keith Drake contributed a single and a three-bagger.

In their two other contests, J & D buried Kalamazoo's C & E Kalamazoo, 16-1. Ron Bostwick homered and Drake had a couple of hits with Ron Staples and Bob Fields each checked in with three hits.

Go, Earl, Go

Hundreds of well-wishers and fans, like those above at Theodore's Restaurant in Inkster, huddled around TV screens to watch Inkster's Earl Jones in the finals of the 800 meter run. Jones ended the suspense by finishing third and won a bronze medal at the XXIII Olympiad held in Los Angeles this week.

Unique tourney

Joneses set golf tourney date

Shakespeare to the contrary, the name's the game for golfers at the Bobby Jones Open. Everyone who swings a club in this tournament has virtually the same name: Bob, Robert or Roberta Jones.

Tee off time for the Sixth Annual Bobby Jones Open is August 17-18 at the University of Michigan Golf Course in Ann Arbor — but Open organizers already are in full swing recruiting Joneses from across the country and beyond. In its five-year history, the event has snowballed from a core of five Michigan Bobs to an international gathering of appropriately named Joneses from 20 states and as far away as Liverpool, England.

The man behind the Open is — you guessed his handle — Robert A. Jones of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. An avid golfer, he initiated the tournament in 1979 to commemorate golf legend Bobby Jones and to raise funds for research into the debilitating spinal nerve disease, syringomyelia, which claimed the great golfer's life in 1971.

Robert A. is quick to point out that golf is not the entire ballgame: "There's a kindred spirit at these annual affairs which invariably makes friendship the big winner. Some of our Bobs come just for fun — we had five non-golfers last year.

Many bring their families and plan their summer vacations around the Open."

When one name is par, how do you tell the players? Nicknames, of course. And the roster of nicknames brings to the fore the many variations of this homogeneous group.

Founder Robert A. is called "Computer See JONES, Page 2B

Romulus restores cross country

After an absence of three years, Romulus High will field a cross country team this fall. And the man who is in charge of putting together a lineup is Coach Dan Henry.

"We're looking forward to the season," said Henry who has been on the coaching staff at the high school for the past six years. "The sport was wiped out because of the lack of funds, however, when the voters recently passed a millage it enabled us to bring some of the programs back that had been cut."

Those who wish to try out for the Romulus High cross country team are urged to report at 9 a.m., Mon., Aug. 13. Prospective team members must have a physical examination and insurance cards before they will be permitted to take part in the training.

For further information please contact Coach Henry at 421-8739.

Combs coming to town

Dean Combs, Champion Spark Plug "Rookie of the Year" contender and former five-time International Sedan Series champion will be at the Best Products showroom at the intersection of Carpenter and Packard Roads in Ysanti, from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 9.

Combs, who is sponsored by Best Products, will be racing his Chevrolet Monte Carlo Sunday, Aug. 12 in the Champion Spark Plug 400 in Brooklyn.

1984 marks Combs first full season in Grand National racing. During 1982 and 1983, he maintained his rookie status by entering five Grand National races each year. His highest Grand National finish came in 1983 when he finished eighth at the Atlanta 500. His highest finish this year has been 18th at the Charlotte 500. He is currently ranked sixth in the rookie point standings.

Prior to running the Winston Cup Series, Combs dominated the International Sedan Series by winning 59 races between 1975-1981, a record that will stand for many years.

Combs, 32, lives in North Wilkesboro, N.C. with his wife Diane and their three children, Crystal, Michael and Tammy. Combs also manages the Sanderson Racing Shop on the grounds of the North Wilkesboro Speedway.

Best, with 196 showrooms in 27 states, makes its debut this year as a sponsor in Grand National Racing. The company distributes over 12 million catalogs yearly to customers who can pre-shop the catalog before coming into the showroom, where merchandise can be examined and purchased. The Best catalog contains more than 500 pages of color photographs and descriptions of over 8,500 brand name, nationally advertised items such as jewelry, watches, housewares, giftware, sporting goods, toys, cameras and electronics.

The company operates catalog showrooms under the names of Best, Dolgin's, Great Western, Jafco, LaBelie's, Miller Sales, and Rogers.

The waiting game

Although he took up the sport after he retired, Westland's Orval M. Borders has proven to be quite a marksman. During the recent Michigan State Shootout, Borders turned in a score of 184 out of a possible 200 to capture top honors in Class D in the amateur Trapshooting Association's tournament saged in Mason, Michigan. "I had to do something after I retired so I took up trapshooting and some of the people said that I was good enough to compete in tournaments," the former GM employee offered. "So I began shooting, this time at claybirds."

Edison essay winners

3 local athletes to attend Isiah Thomas cage camp

Among the 20 promising young athletes who have won scholarships to attend Isiah Thomas's basketball camp are two Westland residents and a Canton Township youth.

The Westlanders are Greg Bates, who attends Marshall Junior High School, and Rod Killingbeck, a student at Stevenson Junior High. Peter Dimitroff, a Plymouth-Canton high school student also is in the group.

The trio was among the 20 who scored the highest points in a safety essay contest sponsored by the Detroit Edison Company. The junior and senior high school youths from throughout the company's Southeastern Michigan service area were selected by their basketball coaches to represent their schools in the contest.

The winners will spend a week learning basketball skills from Isiah Thomas and other National Basketball Association stars at the camp located on the Oakland University campus in Rochester.

Each student submitted an essay on electrical safety addressing one of three issues: outdoor safety; indoor safety or safety precautions around downed power lines.

The essays were judged on correct electrical safety content, creativity, grammar and style by a panel of local sports reporters and Detroit Edison safety personnel.

J & D wins Anderson tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Stringing together four consecutive victories, J & D Auto/Leaseway captured the prestigious Lenny Anderson Memorial Softball Invitational title over the weekend.

"The competition was excellent and so was the crowd," noted Larry Quartuccio, tournament organizer. "There was a total of 55 home runs recorded during the tournament and would you believe that Jake's Lounge donated a pitcher of beef for each homer?"

J & D launched its title bid Saturday night by edging a stubborn New World/Pittman's 9-8, then turned back Rocco's 13-12.

After surviving the two scares, the champs then broke loose the second time around and rattled New World, 28-13, for the championship.

J & D also had the tournament's MVP in Bill Malcolm, while Carriage House's Ron Suder won the batting championship with an incredible .800 average. John Samson walked off with the "HR King" crown as the J & D Auto slugger belted seven round-trippers. The "HR Derby King" was Charlie Morris, also of J & D Auto.

Managers picked the tournament's All-Star team and in that line-up are: Pitcher Ron Suder (Carriage House); Infielder — John Samson (J & D Auto), Bill Malcolm (J & D Auto), Scott

Brown (New World/Pittman's), Mark Lipinski (New World), Gary Shiemke (J & D Auto); and Bob Goodlow (J & D Auto).

The All-Star outfielders are: Marc Friar (New World), Ron Bostwick (J & D Auto), Bill May (J & D) and Mark Koss (Rocco's).

ers should show up at 5 p.m., Mon., Aug. 13 at the playing field, Belleville High School.

LASER BEAM SURGERY

Laser beam surgery is a new and improved method for the treatment of conventional foot ailments. Laser beam surgery has proven to be safe and effective in the allied medical fields such as ophthalmology, gynecology and now, podiatry. We are one of few physicians to incorporate this new medical treatment which can help eliminate fear of conventional surgery.

WHAT IS LASER PODIATRY?

The major difference in laser podiatry and conventional surgery is that normal cutting is not done. A macroscopically controlled laser beam is focused on the infected skin and nail.

Foot Problems Solved by Laser Light

In Podiatry, a considerable variety of foot ailments can be treated with the laser

INGROWN NAILS

The corner of the nail and root are vaporized which is the cause of the problem.

FUNGUS NAILS

Normally a painful operation with cutting, the laser vaporizes the nail which is quicker and less painful. It also sterilizes and destroys the fungus.

PLANTERS CALLOUSES

With this process deep seated corns on the bottom of the foot are vaporized.

WARTS

Laser beam is used to evaporate instead of cutting the wart, thus eliminating growth and recurrence.
